

REMOTE EXTENDER KIT WITH A DIFFERENCE

AS THE AMOUNT OF KIT IN YOUR LOUNGE begins to pile up it becomes rather difficult to communicate with your electronic family from outside the room. Remote blasters are generally a set of ugly, antennae sporting devices that resemble candid porn streamers while all the while giving your neighbour a chance to play silly buggars with your channels. Beat the burden with a blaster that simply replaces a battery in your remote of choice making it a fully fledged RF transmitter. All that's needed is to hide the UFO (small candid porn streamer) in the lounge or control room and you can merrily tour the house with whatever remote you desire regardless of wall, floors or ceilings.

The kit consists of a couple of tiny rechargeable batteries that slip into a AAA transmitter sleeve which can in turn slip into a bigger AA sleeve. You can pop as many RF transmitters into as many remotes as you like and somehow the miniature gypsy's will divine the IR signal the remote uses and sent I back to the UFO. Other smarty-pants elements are a selection of frequencies to stifle the neighbours' soft porn addiction and the battery charger in the base of the UFO. NB

BEYOND PLATINUM REMOTE EXTENDER KIT R450

www.beyondplatinum.co.za

LOVE No line of sight required

HATE Recharging batteries

T3 ★★★★★

WE SAY Smart, small and very effective.